

"Karst under protection - gift for future generations" - travelling school of karst

Students:

Dajana Motika-Raonić

Anja Pješivac

Monte Negro

Mentor:

Milan Mirković

- Let's start with rock monasteries and their beauty. It's so fascinating how, in the past, monks lived there, and how they were thankful to God, although the only thing that they have had were prayers and stones.

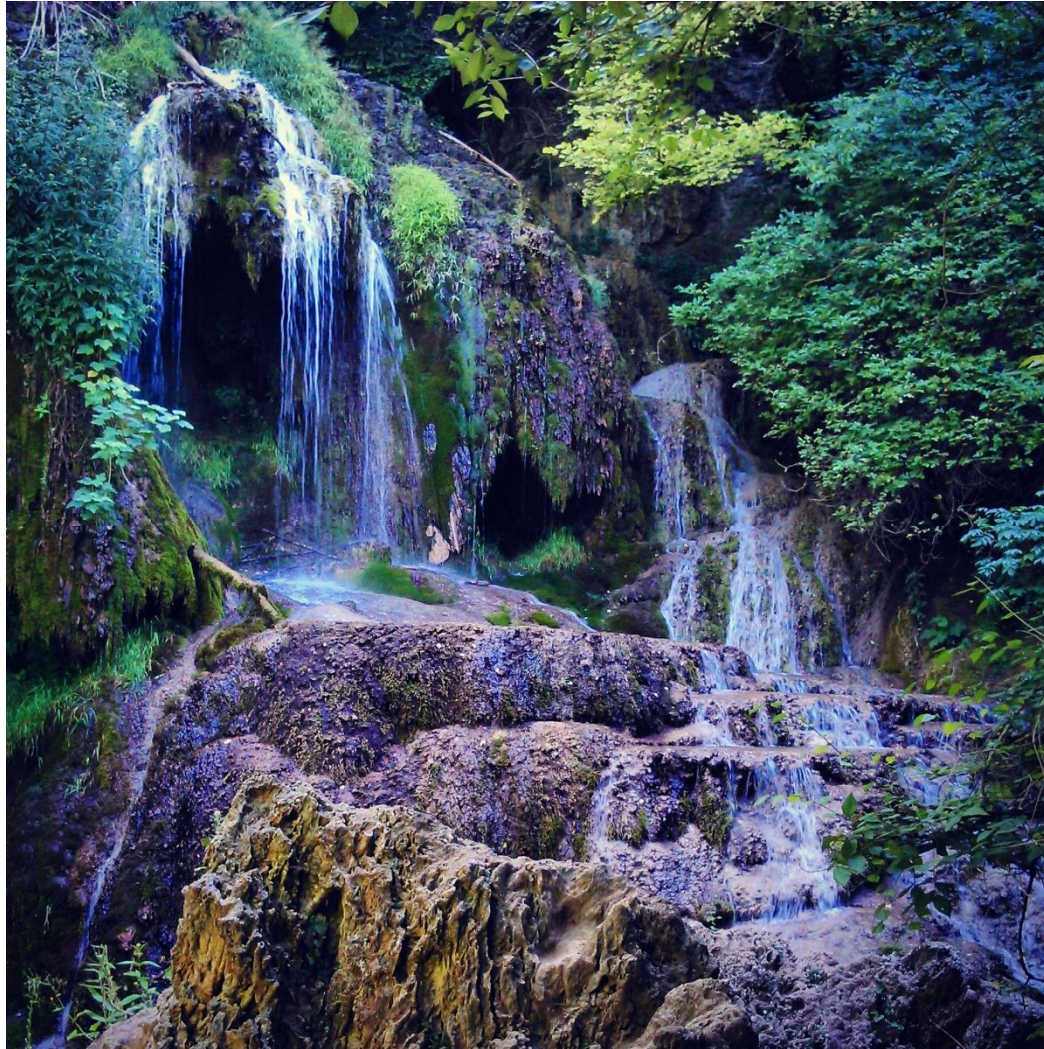

- Another fascinating thing is that the paintings at Ivanovo are all original and un-restored from the 13th century.

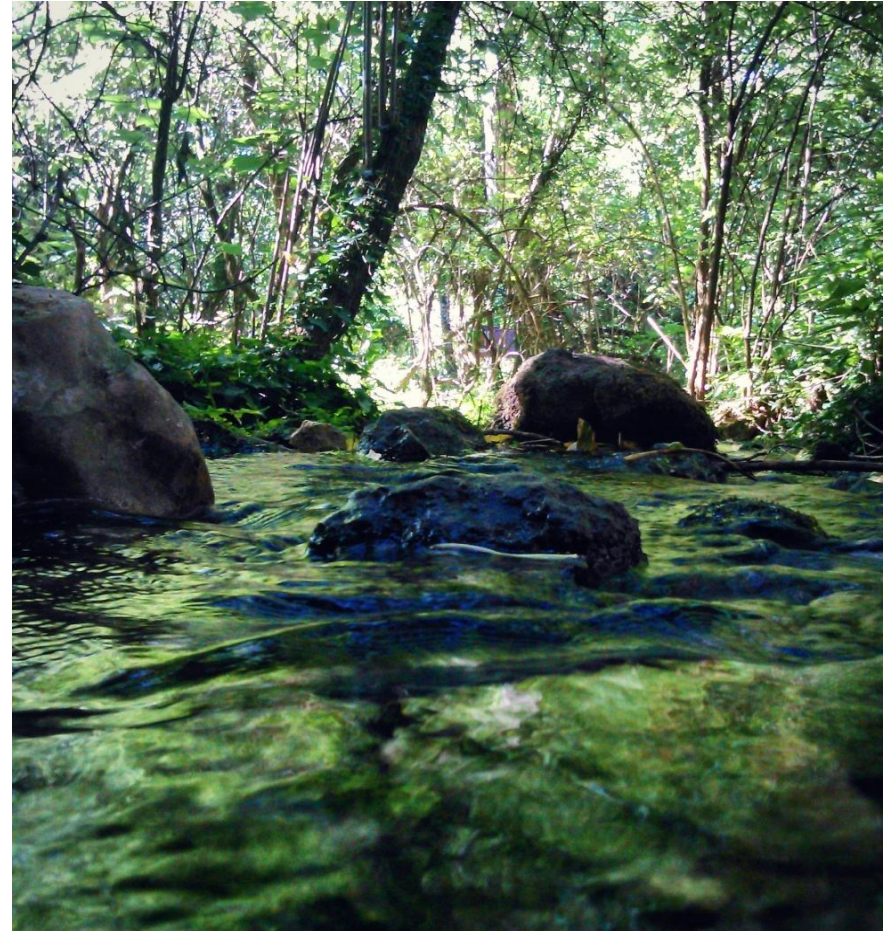

- It was nice to see how much attention is paid to the reconstruction of the medieval cities and capitals.

- The Krushuna waterfalls can take your breath away.

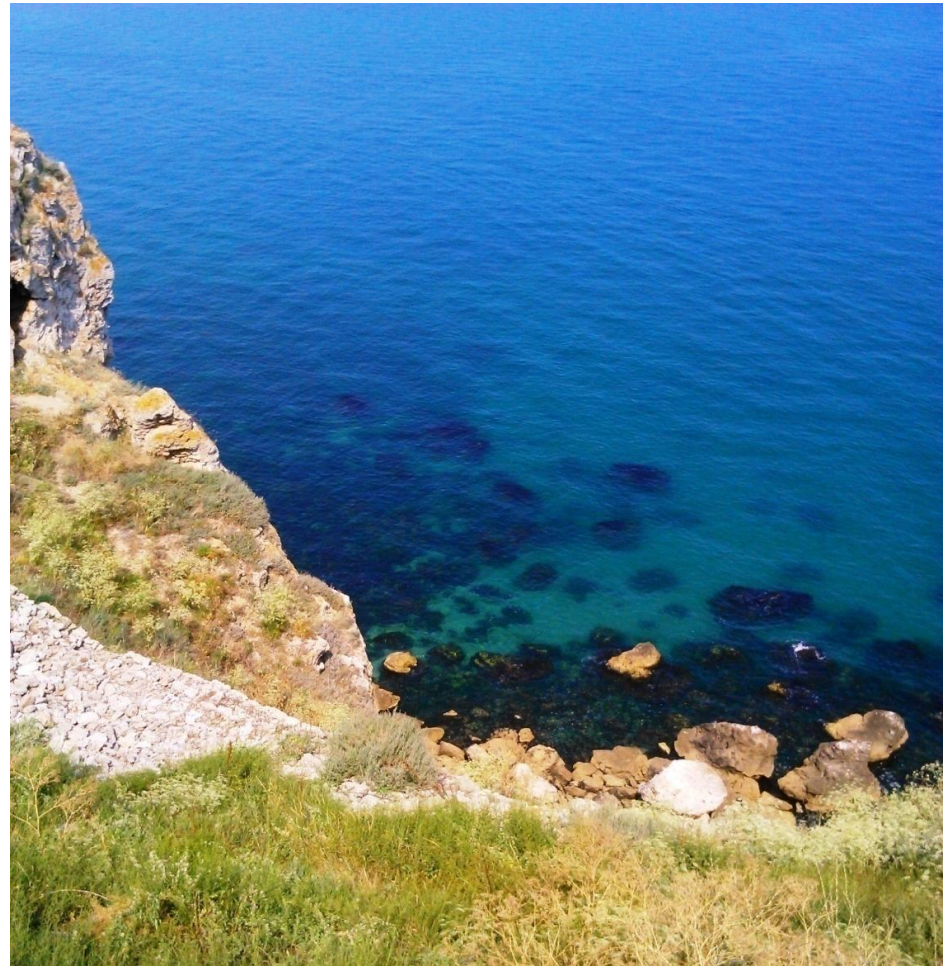

- Caves are arranged for visitors, even for those with no experience.
- Inner beauty of the caves, all of the jewelry inside of them, has forced us to think about how rich our planet is, and how important it is to preserve it from destroying and oblivion.

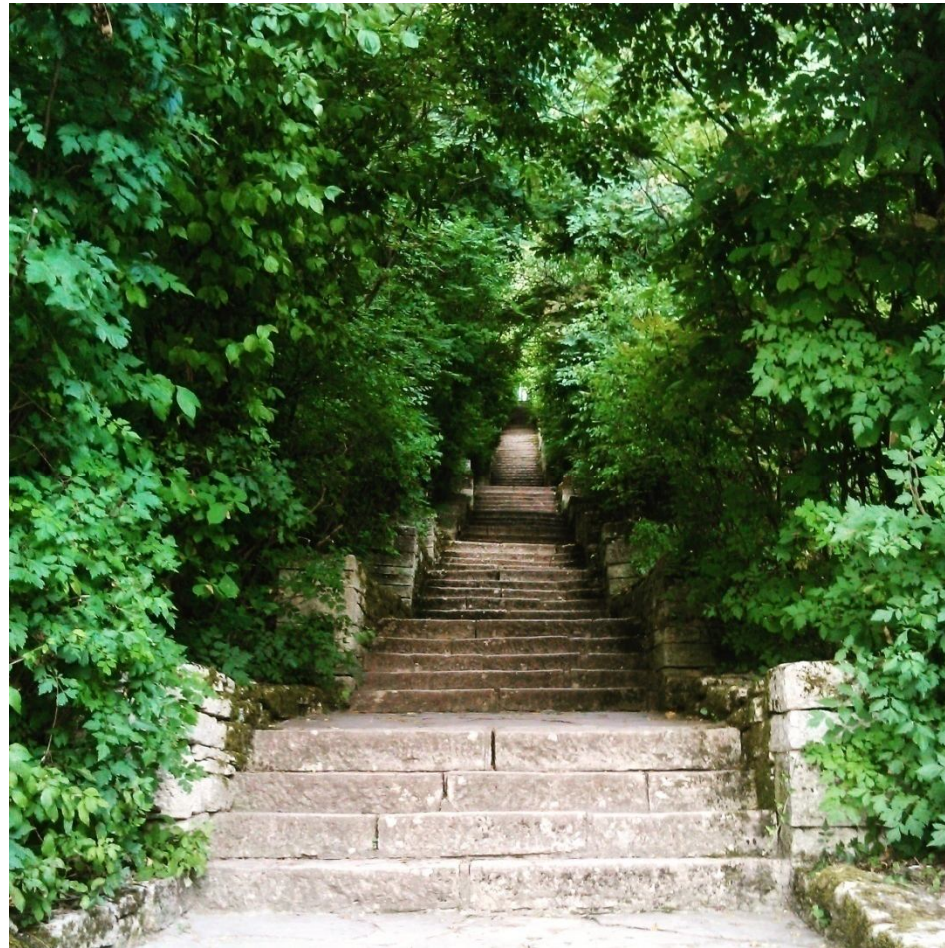

- By our opinion the most beautiful caves were Ledenika and Devetashka. Especially Ledenika with the spectacular introductory presentation.

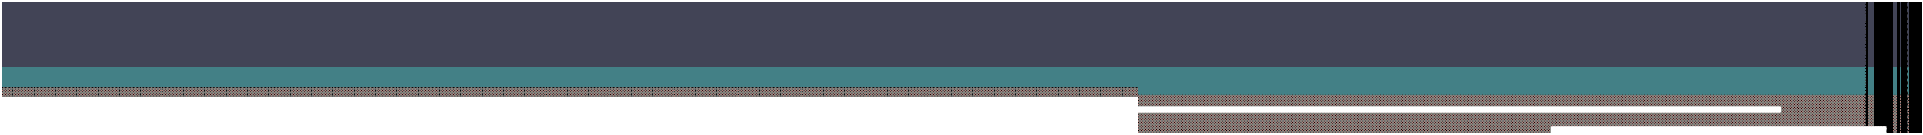

- It was nice to see waves of Black sea and feel the smell of salt water.

- We also "felt" a lot of stairs, like never before, but it was worth every step.

-
- Experiments and lectures were easily understandable and after presentations of other participants we were speechless.
 - This was an amazing trip for us. Thanks to you, and your excellent organisation, we had a chance to gain new experiences and knowledge.
 - Friendships we have made during this travelling school are priceless. We will cherish memories for a lifetime!

THANK YOU!